What we are looking for from Candidates

At Bolton Islamic Girls School we want people who want more than just a job. Teaching for us is a vocation and many of the support staff share a similar attitude too. We want to work with people who enjoy working with and for young people. Our pupils are well behaved and this allows new staff to develop their craft and focus on learning as opposed to behaviour management.

Naturally, we expect excellent subject knowledge and relevant experience but we are looking for more than that. We want to make the learning explicit, fun and challenging for all. New colleagues must want to become part of the family culture that exists in our school, to participate in the life of the school and embrace our spiritual nature and core values. We want emotional intelligent and resilient teachers who are not afraid of trying new things and have a genuine commitment to continuous professional development, whatever the role.

We are looking for staff that see themselves as leaders, have empowerment and do not just rely on a hierarchical system. More than anything we want people who understand the importance of our motto and supports us in ensuring opportunity is given for all students to Achieve Academic and Moral Excellence.

We are graded Good by Ofsted and by working together we can achieve the best for our young people, our staff and our community. At BIGS we don't just offer the pupils the chance to be the best they can be, it applies to each and every one of us.
